

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

About Google Book Search

P R E F A C E.

THE present volume gives the title, size, price, number of volumes, publisher's name, and date of publication, of 67,500 distinct works—being the English publications, importations of original American works, and Continental English books, for the 28 years from January, 1835, to January, 1863.

The latest edition of the London Catalogue—now incorporated with this work—gave 42,340 works for the 25 years from 1831 to 1855; our additional researches have added to this number about 5300 titles which had escaped former compilers; from which, however, we must deduct 1500, omitted by reason of the four years' difference of date in commencement. This calculation leaves 21,360 books published during the last eight years, or an average of 2670 per annum, exclusive of reprints.

The chief feature of the present Catalogue is the addition of dates to every title, indicating either when the work was first published, or, if it was not originally published within the period embraced by this volume, the date of the last edition. In many instances both dates are given, as also the dates of alterations in the prices of the books. These dates were first introduced by the editor in his British Catalogue in 1849, and now uniformly adopted throughout, in the hope of approaching more nearly to his idea of what the English standard catalogue should be.

The old London Catalogue, together with the British Catalogue, has at very considerable cost been merged in the present publication; and for nearly three years past the time of the editor, and that of his assistants, has been thoroughly occupied in supplying deficiencies and correcting proofs. The great Catalogues of the British Museum have been carefully searched for every publication of importance not included in the two works just mentioned; and it is believed that a larger amount of information on modern English bibliography is thus brought together than has ever been presented in any similar work. The difficulties of the task will be readily appreciated by all who have had any experience of this kind of labour. The preparation of a Catalogue of any library or collection of books, however large, to which the compiler has access, is a comparatively easy task, or is at least one which depends only on the amount of personal attention and time bestowed, or on the extent of the staff of assistants at command. In the compilation of a Catalogue like the present, the labour is by no means so simple. It is often impossible to find a copy of works, which nevertheless must not be omitted; and the difficulties of establishing dates, and determining the publishing price and its changes, are often still more embarrassing.

It will be observed that none of the works published in 1863 are included in the present volume, which was, of course, in process of completion during that year. Some of those books might have been included; but the necessity was felt for terminating at some exact point of time, and it was thought better to omit the books of that year altogether, than to leave a doubt as to how far they were, or were not, included. It is proposed, however, to continue the publication of an Annual Catalogue such as that for 1863, already issued during the progress of this volume through the press. It is also purposed, at no very distant period, to continue the Index which has already been published from 1837 to 1855, from the latter period, this Index having been found especially useful.

It has been often said, that an Englishman will sacrifice everything to an idea; and were it not that the Editor is fortified on all sides by assurances he receives of the great need of the Dates, he would, upon considering what the present work has cost him, be filled with anxiety, lest it, too, should prove a sacrifice for an idea. This is the only alloy to the satisfaction he feels at the completion of his labours; but he clings to the hope, that the large amount of time and capital bestowed upon it will obtain for the New Catalogue the appreciation and approval of the public.
